Description

A Perfect Finish: Louis and the HAND PAD UNI

Louis, a seasoned tile setter, took great pride in his work. His latest project involved installing elegant porcelain stoneware tiles in a luxurious kitchen. As he carefully cut each tile, he knew the job wasn't complete until the edges were perfectly smooth, free of any microscratches that could detract from the seamless look he aimed to achieve.

In the past, Louis relied on flexible polishing wheels attached to an angle grinder to remove these imperfections. While effective, the process was cumbersome and time-consuming, requiring him to switch between tools constantly. But this time, Louis had a new trick up his sleeve: the HAND PAD UNI.

A Seamless Transition

The HAND PAD UNI was a compact, hand-held diamond grinding sponge that allowed Louis to grind tile edges manually. As soon as he finished a cut, he reached for the HAND PAD UNI, effortlessly transitioning from cutting to grinding. No need to lug around an angle grinder or deal with the hassle of changing attachments. This little tool was always within arm's reach, making the workflow much smoother and faster.
